

CAST

- JANET JOHNSON People think that she has gone to the dogs. Some think that she is a dog gone shame. She now needs to get help for PRETTY PRINCESS before it is too late. She must have the choker to help this dog win.
- MONTY MONTAGE A jeweler and dealer in estate items. He only wants to help poor Janet get her property back. He is running for Mr. Congeniality at the Chamber of Commerce recognition dinner this year.
- FRED FRANKLIN A collector of old jewelry. He also does some appraisal work. Will not give a quote on Navajo turquoise and silver jewelry. He prefers to deal only in artisan jewelry, not "hobby" jewelry.
- LUCY LARSON Her given name when she arrived in town was Beverly Bladderstockheim, but she changed her name upon her arrival. Claimed she couldn't get it all on a business card. Works for Carmack, Dyer, Blandel, Scoggins, Inman, Crandall, Duval, and Brock, Insurance Brokers. Her card says it all about her. You should ask for one.
- "LEFTY" Loves to bounce balls. Recently had an educational chance that paid full room and board for three years. There are interesting twists in this guy.
- ZELDA PACKNOT Give her a chance and she'll set you up for a real clipping. Needs some solid guidance in her life. Probably needs to spend more time watching Sesame Street on TV and less time watching Classic Unsolved Crimes.
- MELBA BLACK Partner in Black and Blue Investigators. The police have tried to have her license revoked because of her poor record of solving cases.
- LEW BLUE The other partner in Black and Blue Investigators. Broad background in international investigative work. Like a blood hound once he gets on the track.
- PINKY GORDON Gordon is a common name. Especially from someone of Greenland heritage. Her success as an investigator is based on her ability to blend in with the crowd.
- "SHARKIE" Every mystery has to have a bad guy. He seems to be chosen to be the one for this game. His mother loved him and his parole officer likes to keep in touch. How bad can he really be?
